

OH&S Policy

EcoWorks provides professional horticultural services throughout Australia in a manner which ensures the highest standards of workplace safety.

The Organisation recognises and accepts its obligation to provide a safe, healthy and efficient working environment for all employees, labour hire staff and sub-contractors.

Accordingly, EcoWorks has implemented an Integrated Management System which is in accordance with the Australian Standard:

AS/NZS 4801.

The Integrated Management System ensures objectives and targets are established and reviewed through formal Management Review Meetings in order to continually improve and eliminate workplace injuries.

As part of achieving our objectives we:

- comply with relevant OH&S legislation and regulations, Australian Standards and Codes of Practice
- comply with client specific OH&S requirements
- define the responsibilities and authorities of relevant personnel
- provide adequate information, instruction, training and supervision
- obtain internal and external expertise on technical safety issues
- ensure the suitability of plant, equipment and work methods
- use a risk management approach in the planning of work
- manage claims and rehabilitation fairly and equitably
- communicate and consult with our staff in the development and improvement of our Integrated Management System.

Senior management fully endorse this Safety Policy and the formal Integrated Management System that has been implemented.
